The Union Cabinet approved the Pradhan Mantri Swasthya Suraksha Yojana (PMSSY) in March, 2006 with the objective of correcting regional imbalances for affordable/reliable tertiary healthcare services and to augment facilities for quality Medical Education in the country’s under-served states. Under phase-I of the PMSSY, project AIIMS, Rishikesh (Uttarakhand) was implemented in 2009-10 at an estimated cost of Rs. 840 crore. The AIIMS, Rishikesh would have a 960-bedded hospital and would provide undergraduate Medical Education for 100 students per year. Postgraduate and Postdoctoral courses would also be offered.

The Director, Professor (Dr.) Raj Kumar joined the Institute on 23rd Jul 2012, and set the ball rolling for a new era in Medical Education and Health Care in the country and the state of Uttarakhand. From the very first day in the campus, the Director and his team of Administrative staff and 23 Faculty members have been working relentlessly to establish the new AIIMS.

Some of the achievements include

1. MBBS course was started with 50 students. Admission formalities & Medicals were managed by the Institute Faculty and Administrative Staff. Classes were started, and facilities such as Lecture theatre, Dissection Hall, Laboratories have been developed along with hostels and dinning hall facilities for the students. The course is now in full swing.

2. Basic Neurosciences Lab has been started with facilities for state of art research.

3. Director’s office and boardroom have been furnished.

4. Basic services such as security, administrative support and other such ancillary services have been activated through outsourcing.

5. Faculty interviews have been carried out and the best of Faculty have been selected from nationwide interviews.

6. Signposting and milestones directing people to the new AIIMS, Rishikesh have been put up from the nearest Railway Stations and Airport. The Director, Dean and members of the Faculty have given talks and lectures in the state and in other parts of the country to bring about awareness about the new upcoming Institute. The A.O., Dy. Director (Adm.) and S.E. of the Project cell are witness in shaping the Institute.
Key Result Areas for the Future

1. Comprehension with the State Government
   a. AIIMS, Rishikesh is currently allocated 100 acres land which is highly inadequate and below norms for an Institute of this stature. With the support of the State Government it is envisioned to acquire at least another 50 to 100 acres for the future expansion of the project. The Director has already interacted with the Honorable Chief Minister on this aspect and correspondence has been started.
   b. Development of a 6 lane road to access the AIIMS.
   c. Full support for water supply and electricity (only partial support is available currently).
   d. Collaboration with State Government Medical Colleges to enhance a scientific temperament.

2. To start clinical services as soon as possible and commence the hospital.

3. To start a Rural Health Training Centre. Preliminary survey has been done.

4. To improve the existing housing already constructed, which is in an unacceptable condition and to construct more campus accommodation.

5. To monitor construction of the Institute Building and Housing so as to provide robust infrastructure for the future.

The Director, the Administration and the Faculty is working hand in hand as a well knit team, creating together a marvel to take India into a new era with the motto to deliver quality health care to the poorest of the poor, to the last man in the line. The Institute intends to make available to the people of the Union of India, world class medical care, with each member of the team contributing dedicated, un-self seeking service, efficiently rendered.

Creation of Guest House

Creation is the innate expression of the nature. The guest house of AIIMS, Rishikesh was stochastically created. Once the Faculty and Administrative Staff joined, accommodation were far from completion and option of transit accommodation was only viable option. But even the guest house rooms were having ongoing civil and electrical work.

The responsibility was now shouldered by Faculty to ensure that the contractor delivered fast results. Very soon beds and chairs were in place, dining area was equipped with TV and utensils were purchased. Cook was hired and best homely food was made available round the clock. First birthday party was held when Dr. Rajeev Goyal celebrated his son’s birthday in the guest house and the party was a great success. Many senior visiting Officers including Special Secretary and Joint Secretary had lunch in guest house mess and shared their ideas with the faculty.

Joint Secretary Visits AIIMS, Rishikesh

AIIMS, Rishikesh was visited by Mr. Sundeep Nayak, Joint Secretary, IAS Officer on 28-01-13. He addressed students and interacted with Faculty, giving suggestions and inquiring about the problems at AIIMS, Rishikesh campus. He promised to develop various infrastructural, academic, cultural and co-curricular activities. His visit has given a reassurance and infused a new zeal in the Faculty and Students.

Housing Woes

The entire Faculty came to AIIMS, Rishikesh with stars in their eyes, thrilled to be a part of a new beginning, a new Institute of National importance. On reaching the campus, they were in for a rude shock. The housing was just not ready! When they walked through the residential complex they discovered with increasing dismay the completely senseless planning of the placement of the various types of houses.

The type IV houses were located so close to the Director’s bungalow, that there was no scope for privacy of the Director or the Assistant Professors. Girls and boys hostels were next to each other, with no future scope of providing any privacy to the ladies, as the windows of the two hostels faced each other up to the top floor. There was no sewage, electrical connection and water supply was from a tube well. The Guest House was almost complete, and the faculty started residing in the unfurnished rooms, with no grills or mosquito proofing. There were frequent power cuts and only a temporary electrical connection was made. Then began the slow and frustrating process of trying to get the contractors to finish the housing. There was no one to supervise the process with hardly 10-15 labour working at one time, the quality of construction and finishing was unacceptable. The faculty living in the Guest House felt it becoming more and more like “Big Boss” the TV serial, as there was no privacy, they were unable to bring their families and everyone ate together in the Guest House dining hall.

Finally, after 6 months of hardship more out of lack of choice than otherwise, the Faculty shifted to the housing, but the troubles have not ended there. There was no water supply for days on end, and when the supply was restored, the force of supply was so much that the taps flew off, creating a flood. The wiring is poor, plug points are coming off and there are frequent voltage fluctuations. The bedrooms have been made so small that even the master bedroom does not accommodate a double bed. The walls are damp, with seepage over several places. Balconies drain into bedrooms, so when there is heavy rainfall, the whole house gets flooded. There is no grill work or mosquito netting, and safety and security is compromised. Septic tanks are inadequate, and there is constant fear of an overload.

The housing woes mentioned here is just a glimpse of the actual situation it is more out of lack of space that we have stopped here.
Radiance- Fresher's Day Party

The nascent organization celebrated the much awaited fresher's party of the foundation batch on 20 Sep. 2012. The party witnessed a cocktail of dance, music, masti, sports & creativity.

The Pandora's Box opened with green & global thoughts expressed by the students in form of beautiful collages, appreciated en masse. Tug of War & Antakshari were the highlights of pre lunch session. The eve had cultural programmes organized by the students. It all began with pearls of wisdom from Director, Professor (Dr.) Raj Kumar & prize distribution for competitions held in the morning session. As the darkness grew the eve intensified & became more mesmerizing with classical musical performance, poetry, indo western dance fusion, classical dance etc which enchanted all present. The highlight of the programme was an awe inspiring & witty skit based on medical ethics. The much awaited gala event, the Ramp walk stole the show, where students looked their best and walked gracefully like pros. The prized memories of RADIANCE are cherished by one and all alike.

The First Trip: Mussoorie Picnic

The day of 15 Dec 2012 dawned filled with waves of enthusiasm and excitement; students were going for a trip to Mussoorie! The trip to this fabulous destination was just as enjoyable as the destination. Students had rounds of antakshari and sang merrily along the serpentine roads. The day was packed with excitement and fun: students enjoyed the rope way to Gun hill, had a gala time in the play station and enjoyed the scenic beauty and also visited Mahadev Temple.

Cricket Tournament

The ground in front of girl's hostel was full of hustle bustle as students ran around preparing the ground for the cricket tournament organized on 14/2/13. The excitement reached fever pitch as the three teams viz “Dessert Warriors”, “Batsmen and Robin” and “Ball Busters” battled it out for the cup. “Dessert Warriors” were the winning team and Manjeet Singh Ola was Man of the Tournament.
